Shell STEM Bursary 2025 for South Africans

Deadline: Ongoing / Not specified

Location: South Africa

About Shell STEM Bursary

Shell is currently accepting applications for 2025 academic year STEM bursaries.

The bursary award aims to provide educational opportunities to registered South African students pursuing studies within STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) fields, relating to the Energy Sector.

For the past few years, Shell has awarded bursary awards to more than 200 deserving, young South Africans. Through this, Shell hopes to give these deserving students the opportunity to fund their studies and obtain their tertiary qualification.

The bursary will provide cover for the following expenses: tuition fees, equipment (such as books) and accommodation.

The bursary will also provide the following benefits:

- Mentorship programmes
- Networking opportunities
- Tutoring
- Career guidance workshops
- Counseling support
- Potential employment opportunities with Shells various network of partners and affiliates

When awarding the bursary, Shell will consider principles of diversity and inclusion.
